

WILSON PLANS TO CONTINUE AS MEDIATOR

League Understands President
Will Have No Official Standing After March 4.

Expenses of Mediation Incurred
By Wilson and Morgenthau

Washington.—President Wilson plans to go ahead with his work of mediation as between Armenia and the Turkish nationalists. So far as the information in official quarters here is concerned, there is no basis for the report that the British and French governments are trying to discourage Mr. Wilson from proceeding with the task since he is to leave the presidency within the next six weeks. The suggestion was made by Prime Minister Lloyd George that Mr. Wilson designate the American high commissioner at Constantinople to act for him and this has given rise to the belief that the British government wanted to get the task of mediation into official channels since the American high commissioner is an officer of the department of state and as such would continue in office beyond March 4 and his acts would be those of the United States government.

But it is officially explained that the prime minister's suggestion was made on Dec. 2 in a note to the council of the League of Nations before word reached the other side that Mr. Wilson had decided to appoint former Ambassador Henry Morgenthau. The note reached here only a few days ago, having been forwarded through the council of the league and thus delayed. British officials here say the suggestion was made as a supplementary rather than as an alternative proposal and that there was no desire on the part of the prime minister to change the spirit of the decision of the league council to accept Mr. Wilson as mediator.

Will Work Alone
It is pointed out at the state department that the League council formally acknowledged Mr. Wilson's message in which he said he could not act for the government of the United States but only as a private individual and could not of course furnish troops or any other aid to back up the decision he might make. Mr. Wilson moreover asked for the moral support of all the governments on the council of the League so that his decisions would be backed up. The League in acknowledging Mr. Wilson's message replied that it would be glad to have him serve.

From this exchange of messages, officials here are proceeding on the theory that all is smooth and that the governments of Europe fully understand the unique position in which President Wilson is placed by reason of his retirement from office. It is by no means clear, however, that a beginning could be made in the task of mediation. It is understood that for the time being at least Mr. Morgenthau, who will represent the president in the negotiations between the Armenians and Turkish nationalists will pay his own expenses though no doubt the League of Nations will subsequently reimburse him.

May Ask for Help
It is not improbable that Mr. Wilson may ask the next administration to continue the work of mediation if the matter requires governmental machinery and cannot be handled as a personal mediation though this is not expected. There have been many instances in which distinguished statesmen and jurists have been requested to act as mediators in international disputes and their governments have been in no way involved. It is the reliance of both sides in the fairness of the individual rather than the physical help of his government which is most desired in mediating disputes.

The president's decision to become mediator was approved pretty generally by the American press irrespective of party on the ground that anything that might be done to help the cause of the Armenian people who have suffered so much would be a step toward solving the near eastern problems where American missionaries have labored so long to stimulate the processes of civilization.

BANDIT FORCES BANKER TO GIVE HIM BIG SUM

By United Press Leased Wire
Salt Lake City, Utah.—A lone bank robber held up the Utah Savings and Trust company here today and obtained between $2,000 and $4,000.

The man walked to the cashier's cage and handed a note through the ticket which read:

"Hand out all the money you can reach or you are a dead man."

The cashier passed out several thousand dollars and then ran around from behind the cage to the lobby. After he attempted to intercept the robber the man fired a bullet over the cashier's head into the ceiling and escaped.

Legless Man Is Prisoner For 11 Days

Jacques Villard Returns to Family
After Harrowing Experience.

By United Press Leased Wire
St. Louis, Mo.—After having been held captive at the point of a gun for eleven days in a Chicago convict's den, Jacques Villard, the legless editor of a Polish magazine published in St. Louis, is today at home with Mrs. Villard and their four year old daughter.

Villard, released yesterday by the kidnapers who were afraid of the outcry in the newspapers, telegraphed his wife from Chicago last night that he was free. At 8:15 this morning he arrived here.

For two hours after he was released by the kidnapers at Franklin street and Chestnut street, near the Chicago lakeside, Villard was unable to summon help. Passersby to whom he called looked at the legless man, thought he was a beggar and went on. Fearing that he would freeze to death when the bandits abandoned him, they left him a blanket which was later found at the lakeside.

The man is so light and the blanket was so heavy that he had to abandon it and he nearly perished with cold, as he crawled along for more than two blocks before he found aid.

Villard's story was told this morning to Floyd Young, superintendent of the St. Louis branch of the Burns International Detective agency, which had been called in by Mrs. Villard to help find her husband.

DE VALERA HOLDS KEY TO PEACE TALK

Irish President's First Statement Will Represent Entire Sinn Fein.

By Charles M. McCann
By United Press Leased Wire
Dublin.—The success of Anglo-Irish peace negotiations was believed today to depend largely upon the tone of the official statement by Eamonn De Valera, "president of the Irish republic," since his return from the United States.

De Valera's initial public utterance, looked for Monday or Tuesday, will represent all factions of the Sinn Fein, radicals as well as moderates, it is now conceded. The explanation of the delay in issuing the statement from his place of concealment is that he is making sure of the fact that he will speak for the entire Sinn Fein. "Statements about the president's views attributed to him in the Irish and English press are nothing more than speculative guessing," said an official statement from the Sinn Fein.

Father O'Flanagan, who is now in London, representing the entire Sinn Fein, including radicals, it is stated on apparently creditable authority. He is empowered to institute negotiations if the British government's attitude is sufficiently conciliatory.

There appears to be no question that the people will welcome peace with its attendant cessation of reprisals and relief from terror, but they are firmly backing the Sinn Fein. They are suffering directly from the government and indirectly from the Sinn Fein, the principal difference being that they regard the soldiers and police as representing the "foreigner" while the Sinn Fein represents what its translation states—"ourselves."

Dominee Is Arrested

By United Press Leased Wire
Paterson, N. J.—The Rev. Cornelius Densel, former pastor of the First Netherlands church, was arrested today on a warrant charging violation of the Mann act.

Densel is being sued by Miss Trina Hannanberg, former choir girl, with whom he is alleged to have eloped to Buffalo, for $25,000 civil damages. Densel was arraigned before United States Commissioner Delancy and waived reading of the complaint. He was held in $5,000 bonds which were furnished by Richard Donkersloot, father of William Donkersloot, the dominee's son-in-law.

Densel eloped with the girl in November, returning in December. Soon after he was made defendant in a $25,000 damage suit instituted by the girl.

STATE WON'T FORCE
WOMAN TO TAKE FOOD

Illinois' State Attorney Will Not
Meddle in Woman's Strange
Fast.

Danville, Ill.—"If Great Britain could not make MacSwiney break his fast, how can we in our small way compel a woman to eat?" This was the statement of State's Attorney John H. Lowman, of Vermilion county, today, when he was asked if the state contemplated doing anything in an effort to break the forty one day fast of Mrs. Saddle K. Harrington who is using this unique method in an attempt to force her husband to "get religion."

An emaciated appearance is the only known effect of the fast upon Mrs. Harrington, who formerly was a plump woman. So far, a local physician who examined her declared her pulse and temperature were normal.

"Although my husband is not a bad man, he has no religion," Mrs. Harrington said today. "I will pray and abstain from food until he is converted. On May 15 the Lord told me to do this."

The woman has also refused medication in which concentrated food was concealed. Each day the rite of offering her food is performed and she refuses to take.

Ernest K. Harrington, a local business man, is the woman's husband. "If she wants to starve herself to death, that's her business," he said in the incipient stages of the hunger strike.

As the strike continued he weakened and Wednesday he wrote the pastor of the Church of God, El Dorado, Ill., asking him to come to Danville and urge Mrs. Harrington to abandon her fast.

Ruther Declares Husband of Affinity Was Willing to Give Up His Wife.

By United Press Leased Wire
St. Louis, Mo.—Pierre P. Ruther, a student at the university last year, and his wife, who were arrested here in an attempted elopement to the Mexican border, have made a compact to die together if they cannot live together, Mrs. Ruther said in an interview today.

The couple was making a dash for the Mexican border and stopped here for the night when Mrs. Ruther's trunk led police to a hotel where they were and resulted in their capture.

Neither Ruther, who has a wife and baby at Highland Park, Ill., where he was employed as a chemist, or Mrs. Ruther expressed regret today over their act.

"I love Pierre and I know that he loves me," said Mrs. Ruther. "I don't feel that we have done anything wrong. I expected to get a divorce. Pierre will do the same and then only death will keep us apart. And if more trouble comes, we two have decided that we will die together."

The three day honeymoon of the fleeing husband and wife was a flight from one place to another, according to Ruther. He said they spent Wednesday in Chicago and learned Thursday of the charges against them through the newspapers.

Tried to Fool Police
"We decided at once," he said, "that the only thing to do was to put as much distance between ourselves and France as soon as possible."

After told of how they changed taxis enroute to the station and asked the ticket agent regarding trains to New York he made an effort to throw police off the scent.

Mrs. Ruther said she was raised in a convent in Milwaukee. "I was married to Franzen in 1915," she said. "I never loved my husband. I just respected him, but that's all and I know that he never loved me."

After blamed his wife for his action. He said she nagged him because he stayed out late and that she accused him of having affairs with another woman.

"I didn't want to be nagged," he said. "I met Charlotte in Milwaukee and liked her from the start. Last Monday, I went to Madison. On Tuesday, I went to her apartment, opened the door softly and stood by the curtain several minutes."

Heard Family Quarrel
"I heard her and Franzen quarreling," he said.

"You can pack your things and get out."

"Then I stepped in and told him Charlotte was my wife, that we had been married thirteen years ago in Australia, which of course wasn't true. I told him that I had come to claim my wife, that I loved her and that she loved me."

"He was somewhat amazed but he seemed to take it gracefully enough. He turned to Mrs. Franzen and said: 'Is that so? Do you love him?'"

"She answered: 'Yes I do and I'm going away with him.'"

"Well," Franzen said to me, "let's sit down and talk this matter over."

"We went into the parlor and sat down. Of course, he couldn't talk very much and no wonder. If he had made a fight for his wife, I would have taken her away from him. But he didn't think enough of her to fight for her. He took it as a matter of course, except that he was somewhat excited."

"I told him that I was insistent that Mrs. Franzen go away with me, but I never threatened him with a pistol."

"I said, 'Franzen, I don't think it is wise for you to make trouble. Your wife loves me and I love her, and anyway she's my wife. It would make a scandal if you tried to stop us.'"

"I'm sure that you don't love her so we might just as well wash the family dirty linen right here. You think a lot of the child. It wouldn't do any good if you were to fight."

He agreed and said: "But how am I to know that you are going away and that neither of you will bother me anymore?"

"We'll put it into writing," I said. While Mrs. Franzen went into the dining room to pack her trunk, he wrote out an agreement, which he, Mrs. Franzen and I signed in duplicate.

"Charlotte then asked Franzen if you kindly help me pick my trunk?" and she requested a piece of rope. Like a regular gentleman, he went and cut a piece of rope for her from the awning.

Appleton Boy Testifies In Madison Murder Case

By United Press Leased Wire
Jefferson, Wis.—With corroborating testimony that Matthew Lynam had raised his gun and deliberately fired and killed Carl Jandorf and the other victims of the afternoon of May 28, the state expects to rest its case today and the first of the defense witnesses will be called to the stand by J. M. Clancy, attorney for Lynam.

"They can yell now; I've done my day's work," Lynam muttered as he came up to the truck after the shooting of Jandorf and started to the station with Julian Lunny, according to William Gallagher, driver of the truck who testified.

The court adjourned yesterday afternoon while A. J. Eber, Cedarburg, a student at the university last year, the state expects to rest its case today and the first of the defense witnesses will be called to the stand by J. M. Clancy, attorney for Lynam.

"I saw the officer raise his hand to the level of his shoulder and fire," Koch testified.

Jandorf walked in a semi circle and fell and lay face downward. I didn't see the other things because I was looking out into the street at the corner of Lake and Langdon streets. The crowd numbered between 20 and 30 down Lake street. At the corner of Lake and Langdon the officer turned around again and said: 'Stay back.' To the best of my knowledge there were no remarks 'take Lunny away.' The crowd still numbered 20 or 30 at the time of the shooting. If the crowd had increased, I would have known it."

Under cross-examination by Clancy, he said:

"No one was talking in a loud tone, in going down Lake street. I heard no remarks. After the officer turned around, I heard remarks in the crowd. Someone said he handled his revolver rather freely. The crowd continued to walk along behind the officer. The officer made one stop before he reached the corner of Lake and Langdon streets. The crowd numbered between 20 and 30 down Lake street. At the corner of Lake and Langdon the officer turned around again and said: 'Stay back.' To the best of my knowledge there were no remarks 'take Lunny away.' The crowd still numbered 20 or 30 at the time of the shooting. If the crowd had increased, I would have known it."

DAUGHERTY IS "COL. HOUSE" FOR HARDING

President-Elect Has Determined on Appointments for Christian and Daugherty.

By United Press Leased Wire
Marion, Ohio.—Two final decisions have been made by President-elect Harding, it was learned in authoritative quarters here today.

1—George B. Christian, Jr., Marion, will be secretary to the president.

2—Harry M. Daugherty, Columbus, will be the "Colonel House" of the Harding administration.

These are the only two certainties which stand out from the confusion which surrounds the cabinet situation today. Harding appears farther from a final decision on his cabinet now than at any time recently. His slate was virtually settled two weeks ago in all but a few points.

Influences now bearing down on him with their full strength, financial, economic, racial and geographical have undone his selections and he now appears uncertain as to what to do.

Harry M. Daugherty is still expected to go into the cabinet regardless of opposition which is being manifested.

He is expected to become attorney general if he enters the cabinet. He is identified with a leading law firm in Columbus, although he has done little court work in recent years.

Had it not been for Daugherty, Harding probably would not have been in public life today. After Harding was defeated for the governorship of Ohio in 1910, he announced he was out of public life for good.

He was discouraged and considered himself a failure. Daugherty took hold of Harding, groomed him for the senatorial fight, elected him, and then began preparing to make Harding president. After the nomination it was the same story. Harry Daugherty was moving quietly along the battle line, strengthening weak spots and directing the strategy.

GREEK SEER PREDICTS CONSTANTINOPLE'S FALL

By United Press Leased Wire
Athens.—A sensation has been created in Greece by the forecast of the aged prophet Pappas Johannes, that King Constantine will enter Constantinople at the head of his army "before the end of October."

"But at the moment of his triumph, something terrible will happen," Johannes adds, which is interpreted as meaning the king will be assassinated.

Constantine is said secretly to place credence in the prophecy and to have declared that if once he enters Constantinople at the head of the Greek army, he does not care what happens then.

Johannes, who now resides in Janina, formerly was an official of the Greek church at Philadelphia. As a Minor he foretold the world war, the duration of the Venizelos regime and the death of King Alexander. It is said.

TRACTION CO. ASKS HEARING ON NEW RATES

Rate Commission Asked to Con-

ORDER NEW GAS CONTAINER

Contract for Huge Storage
Tank for Neenah Will Be Awarded Soon.

Special to Post-Crescent
Madison.—The Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power company is about to award a contract for the construction of a 200,000 foot gas holder in Neenah and Menasha, according to a statement made by John I. Beggs, president of the company, to the rail road commission Friday afternoon.

Some time ago the company made application to the commission for authority to increase its gas, electric and street railway rates in Appleton, Neenah and Menasha, but after hearings in each of the cities the commission in a recent decision announced it would not entertain the application for increase in any of the rates until the company had shown it had made substantial progress in the improvement of the gas service.

In coming before the commission on Friday, President Beggs and General Manager A. K. Ellis, of Appleton, made it plain to the commission that they were not asking for an increase in the gas rates at this time, but they felt with the progress made for the improvement of the gas service that the commission might take order and vacate the matter of holding a hearing on the application for increased rates for electric service and street railway.

Mr. Beggs reported that the plans have been perfected for the construction of the proposed 200,000 foot gas holder in Neenah-Menasha and that with the approval of the commission the contract will be awarded within a week or ten days, the holder to be completed and ready for use before June 1. The proposed holder will have sufficient capacity to serve both Neenah and Menasha for 25 hours without drawing a foot of gas from the plant in Appleton. This will relieve the Appleton plant of the peak load it has had to carry and should greatly improve the gas service in Appleton, according to Mr. Ellis.

Just what the commission will do about considering the application for increased electric rates at this time has not been determined, but before any increase is granted a public hearing on the matter will be held, according to the commission.

THREE PACIFIC NATIONS WANT U. S. ALLIANCE

Canada, Australia and New Zealand Seek Protection of U. S. Navy.

By J. W. T. Mason
By United Press Leased Wire
New York.—Unique recognition of America's dominant position in the Pacific is contained in the persistent indications that Canada, Australia and New Zealand desire to share the shelter of American battlefleets.

An understanding among the four commonwealths for safeguarding the Pacific against oriental control would greatly add to the prestige of the United States and would increase the authority of this country as the spokesman of democracy in the Far East.

The warships of Canada, Australia and New Zealand would not strengthen materially the fighting power of the American navy. But moral advantage of having three great self-governing English-speaking colonies co-operating with America's trans-Pacific policies would be of decisive weight in all critical developments. As long as such a combination existed Japan would have to abandon every idea of expanding in any direction that would imperil the economic standards of the white race.

The British dominions facing the Pacific have no first class naval stations for their own use. The United States is now planning the construction of several stations of the most modern type. Canada, Australia and New Zealand would have no major use for their navies in a war for racial control of the Pacific for could not avail themselves of the American stations.

Every reason of sound strategy, therefore, requires that the three dominions cooperate in far eastern affairs with the United States.

The dominions and America have a common interest in making a circle of democracy around the Pacific.

Under these circumstances any venture by America into international politics is more likely to make this country an associate of Canada, Australia and New Zealand than of the trans-Atlantic powers.

ANTI-STRIKE BILL COMES UP MONDAY

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—Opponents of the Pincheter anti-strike bill today suddenly changed their plans when they learned that the bill's supporters were preparing to block reconsideration.

After a conference with other opponents of the bill, Senator La Follette gave notice that he would call up the reconsideration motion in the senate Monday if the senate's business permits.

This decision was reached when it was learned that the advocates of anti-strike legislation were prepared next week to lay the bill on the table with La Follette's motion to reconsider made soon after the bill passed on December 16.

Building Material Prices Have Dropped, Dealers Say

Appleton Men Resent Charge That Material Prices Are Still High.

"We would be glad to have the Master Builders appoint an investigating committee and examine our cost and selling prices of lumber and building material," said John L. Hettlinger, president of the Ideal Lumber & Coal company in reply to a statement by Martin Boldt, president of the Master Builders association, that the price of lumber in Appleton is higher than it should be in view of the recent reductions as reported in the proceedings of the recent meeting of the Master Builders association.

"We have made two reductions on lumber within the last two months," said Mr. Hettlinger, "ranging all the way from $4 to $50 per thousand. We ordered a large number of carloads of lumber from the Pacific coast at the time prices were at $15 or higher. It did not reach us until after there was a drop in the market. The shipment was accepted by us as a party nevertheless and we propose to stand our losses the same as other lumber companies are doing."

Regarding reduction of wages Mr. Hettlinger stated his company had a contract with its men which it proposed to abide by regardless of any action taken by other firms.

Prospects are bright. In view of the reductions that have been made in building material generally, Mr. Hettlinger said building prospects this spring looked fairly prices to show, however, that his company had made very material reductions on both piece stuff and lumber and stated the greatest reductions were made on maple flooring and yellow pine. Freight rates on lumber from the Pacific coast have increased until they are now from $200 to $500 per carload.

Roofing Prices Lower
E. H. Belling, president of Appleton Roofing and Hardware company, said the price of roofing had dropped about fifteen per cent. He said his company expected to be kept busy this season as it had already been awarded the contract for new roofs on quite a number of barns and farm residences. He had also talked to a number of farmers that were contemplating erecting new buildings immediately after they had completed their roofing.

Below 1918 Prices
"The price of lumber has dropped below that of 1918," said M. J. McDonald, manager of McDonald company, "and when other building material reaches the same basis it will be easy for the working man to build his own home."

Hemlock lumber is now cheaper and more plentiful owing to paper mills curtailing their output. Maple flooring is 50 per cent cheaper than it was six months ago. We have made two reductions since wholesale prices commenced to decline. The prospects look very bright for a good building season this year."

While there has been a big reduction in the retail price of lumber, A. A. Fraser, president of Fraser Lumber & Manufacturing company, did not believe it would ever get back to its former price on account of the increase of freight rates. He quoted

HELP THRIFT WEEK BY SALE OF STAMPS

Boy Scouts Will Make Citywide Canvass for Treasury Stamp Orders.

Boy scouts of Appleton will not only urge thrift among members of their own organization as an aid to the thrift week program, but will spread the gospel of saving in the city. An organized campaign will be conducted for the sale of United States treasury stamps, during the period from January 17 to 22.

Arrangements have been completed with the postoffice by E. R. Henderson, scout executive, to sell the thrift stamps, which are in denominations of 25 cents, $1 and $5, the same as war savings stamps. The city will be divided into districts and one troop will be assigned to each section. The districts will be subdivided and definite territory given each scout. It is hoped by this method to reach everybody in Appleton and induce the purchase of Uncle Sam's securities.

Full instructions will be given at a mass meeting at four o'clock Thursday afternoon at the high school. The plan of sale, the advantage of buying treasury stamps and other features will be explained. Territory will then be assigned and the scouts put at work. Prizes are to be given those making the highest bona fide sales. Orders for stamps will be taken by the boys for immediate or future delivery.

Mr. Henderson believes that a large sale will result. Scouts of America demonstrated their ability as securities salesmen during the war by disposing of $43,043,593 worth of thrift stamps, representing sales to over 2,000,000 individuals.

Systematic saving is also to be urged among the members of each scout troop. One scout from each troop will speak on the subject to his fellow scouts at the regular meeting during thrift week. Scout law No. 9 will be emphasized, which reads:

"A scout is thrifty. He does not wantonly destroy property. He works faithfully wastes nothing, and makes the best use of his opportunities. He saves his money so that he may pay his own way, be generous to those in need and helpful to worthy objects. He may work for pay, but he must not receive tips for courtesies or other good turns."

Mrs. John Meyer of Fond du Lac, and her brother, Peter Schumacher and son, Herman, of Mishawaka, Ind., were week end visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Kaufman.

W. E. Rogers was called Thursday to Streator, Ill., by the sudden death of his father, the Rev. J. F. Rogers.

IS SANTA CLAUS TO GERMAN CHILDREN

Matt Roemer Makes Purchases and Distribution for Thousands at Coblenz.

An Appleton man, Matt Roemer, played Santa Claus to 14,000 poor children of Germany on Christmas day, distributing clothing, toys and food, according to a letter received by his mother, Mrs. Irma Roemer, 1037 Lawrence street.

Mr. Roemer is stationed at Coblenz, Germany, with the International Rhineland High commission. A fund totalling several thousand dollars was raised among soldiers and officials of the commission to provide Christmas cheer for the desolate children. Mr. Roemer was assigned the task of purchasing the articles, and personally supervised the distribution in seven of the larger cities.

Mr. Roemer was in the intelligence service of the American army during the war and was transferred to the Rhineland commission sometime after the armistice was signed. He was married to a German young lady several months ago and is making his home in Coblenz.

His letter is regarded as proof that the stricken families of central Europe are receiving the benefit of relief funds.

Otto Kreunke of Fremont, was in Appleton on business Thursday.

WOMAN'S MEETING TO BE IMPORTANT

Many Subjects of Vital Interest
Are to Come Up for Discussion.

The meeting of the Appleton Woman's Club next Tuesday evening will be of great interest, as it will be the first business meeting since Oct. 26. There is much of importance to come before the members. It is the plan of those in charge to have the regular meetings mean to the club what the "pop" or mass meeting mean to the college, to furnish enthusiasm and interest for the work.

The work accomplished in the last few months will be briefly reviewed and important announcements for the coming months will be made. Several questions of vital importance are to be discussed, including important changes in the constitution which will be acted upon at a subsequent meeting.

Miss Constance Johnson, director of the recreation department, will present many interesting phases of the growing work of her department. Special music will be provided. The community "sing," led by Miss Eleanor Schneider, will begin promptly at 7:30 o'clock. The meeting will be held in Peabody hall of Lawrence Conservatory of Music.

URGES WOMEN TO HEAR SUNDAY FORUM SPEAKER

"I hope all the girls of the city will realize what an opportunity they have to hear a man who knows what he is talking about, in Dr. Harry Ward," declared Miss Constance Johnson, director of the recreation department of the Appleton Woman's Club, who has had the privilege of taking courses under Dr. Ward at Columbia University. "His standing with the students in the teacher's college at Columbia University is very high and he is well beloved. It seems what he suggests could be done, that troubles of an industrial nature can be done away with. His coming so far to talk to us is ample evidence that our forum management considers him decidedly worth while hearing."

NEED PERMITS FOR BOYS' ODD JOBS

Industrial Commission Rules
Against Shoveling Sidewalks and Piling Wood.

Shoveling snow and piling wood is child labor, in the opinion of the Wisconsin industrial commission. This ruling will have an important bearing on the practice of many youngsters, including boy scouts, who earn their spending money with such work. Taylor Frye, a member of the commission, states that neither boy scouts nor other minors under 17 years of age can work for hire, either to shovel snow, throw in wood, or perform other labor for money unless they have a labor permit. Employers engaging them are liable to all the penalties connected with that law.

Mr. Frye further states that such work is not domestic service within the meaning of the child labor law. The employment of minors under 17 years in such service without labor permits is a violation of the law which subjects the employer to all penalties and liabilities.

Some attorneys believe that such a case would be termed an absurdity if brought before the supreme court. Requiring permits for work of this kind is believed to be rather far-fetched.

ALMOST RAN OVER COPS BUT WAS NOT PINCHED

Seymour citizens are having the laugh on the Green Bay police force. Reports reached Reuben Thiel, whose automobile was stolen several days ago, that the machine was seen proceeding toward Green Bay. Mr. Thiel and several others took up the trail and found the machine abandoned at that city. They took possession of the car and drove around the city several hours to see if the police would not apprehend them for driving a car which they had been notified stolen. The police hardly noticed them, although Mr. Thiel drove close enough to some of the officers to nearly run them over.

Two young men who alighted from a train at Seymour were seen taking the automobile, but they could not be found at Green Bay.

LAWRENCE "TOWN GIRLS" ORGANIZE

Resident Students Want to Enjoy Privileges of Dormitory Life.

Lawrence college girls who are not living in dormitories formed a strong organization for the promotion of friendship and school spirit among the resident woman students. At a meeting at 4:30 o'clock Friday afternoon in the room of Main hall, Charles Papp, 2 Brookway place, elected president. Other officers are Helen Mills, vice-president, and Ellen Kinsman, secretary-treasurer.

"The need for a town organization similar to that which the dormitory girls have, has been felt for a long time," said Miss Agnes Churchill, Milwaukee, who was the chairman of the meeting. She said similar organizations are working out very successfully at Milwaukee-Downer and other colleges.

It was pointed out that resident students miss a great deal of college life because they are not organized. There is a social and intellectual life which both social and intellectual which dormitory girls are privileged to enjoy and which will be available to town girls in an organized body.

There are 49 town girls attending Lawrence college. Plans were made by which all girls will be personally asked to the next meeting. Regular meetings will be held and a definite organization perfected. It is probable the girls will show the college they care for the town future.

The fact was brought out that many students living in town do not know many other town girls. An organization of this kind will encourage friendship and unite the girls for definite aims.

BANK OFFERS PRIZE FOR HOG SALE ATTENDANCE

Attendance at the sale of Duroc-Jersey pigs at the armory Tuesday will probably be stimulated through an offer made by the First National bank. A prize of $10 in gold is to be paid the farmer bringing in the largest load of men.

poration Opening Offices

Organization of the $500,000 Wisconsin corporation, of which John J. Sherman, president of the Citizens National bank is a member, has been completed. Offices will be opened immediately at Milwaukee.

Nearly 300 Wisconsin bankers have stock in the new corporation. The activities will be in the general investment field and will be of nation wide scope with Wisconsin as the working unit of the corporation, according to H. A. Moehlenpach, president. It will handle all kinds of standard securities, farm mortgage bonds, bankers' acceptances, government bonds and so forth for stockholders and others.

The officers are: H. A. Moehlenpach, president; S. M. Smith, vice-president and treasurer; George B. Bartlett, secretary; directors, Mr. Moehlenpach, Mr. Smith, John Rose, Green Bay; E. C. Perry, Fond du Lac; F. J. Carr, Hudson; C. S. Morris, Berlin; J. J. Junderson, Shullsburg; W. E. Spencer, Independence; and C. E. Babcock, Neenah.

FORUM SPEAKER COMES FROM EAST

Prof. Harry F. Ward, D. D., of National Reputation, Speaks Sunday.

Officials of the People's Forum are sparing no expense to bring the best speakers in the United States for the weekly gatherings. This is shown from the fact that Prof. Harry Ward, D.D., who speaks at 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening at Lawrence Memorial chapel on "Christianity and Capitalism" comes from New York city.

Dr. Ward is recognized as an authority on social conditions in the country. He is professor of social science of Union Theological Seminary. Not only is he an author of note, but he has a reputation as an orator who can hold his audience tense from his first utterance to the closing word.

It is expected part of Dr. Ward's address will be based on the book published by himself and other members of the industrial relations committee of the Interchurch World Movement, concerning conditions in the last great eastern steel strike. The committee's findings as to conditions among the workers have been the source of considerable comment here.

The capital and labor question has been presented in the last two meetings from the purely business or personal standpoint by a labor leader and by an employer. Dr. Ward is expected to approach this timely topic from the Christian angle, having to do with the influence of Christian brotherhood in industrial controversies.

The usual musical program will be a feature of the forum meeting. Miss Doris Brenner's numbers at the organ will be "Light Cavalry Overture" by Von Suppe; "Intermezzo from Cavalleria Rusticana" by Mascagni, and "Will o' the Wisp" by Nevin.

ASK DAMAGES OF AUTO BUS OWNERS

Winnebago County Files Counter-Claims to Suit Brought by Homan Company.

Winnebago county's answer to a suit brought by Homan Auto company, Menasha, for payment of expenses for snow removal on the Menasha-Appleton road, is a counter-claim for damages done to the highway while this work was in progress.

The Homan company operates bus lines between Appleton and Neenah, and filed a claim with the Winnebago county board for an amount well over $1,000 for keeping the Menasha-Appleton road open during part of the winter of 1919-1920. The board disallowed practically the entire bill and suit was brought in circuit court at Oshkosh by the Homan company to recover the compensation alleged to be due.

The county board met in special session several days ago and authorized D. K. Allen, district attorney, to file a counter claim "for any and all amounts due the county as damages to the county highway in question and which damages are claimed in the resolution to have arisen out of costs of the Homan Auto company in removing the snow." The Winnebago county committee on roads and bridges is to determine the amount of the damages.

dations for Campaign
Two Years Hence.

Henry Thiel of this city and A. R. MacDonald, Kaukauna, are among the Wisconsin supporters of Senator La Follette whose names are supported for the state central committee of the LaFollette Progressive association.

Preliminary organization steps for the campaign two years hence when the senator's term expires were taken at a recent meeting at Madison. Some 60 men agreed to act as temporary committeemen. Both the state at large and the counties will be urged to organize. F. J. Onstad, secretary of the LaFollette Progressive association, will probably visit most of the counties in the interests of the movement. Each county is to name its own chairman.

ARRESTED FOR TRYING TO EVICT TENANT FROM HOUSE

Henry Berglin is the owner of a house which for the last year and a half has been occupied by Grover Smith. The residence which Mr. Berglin has been renting was recently sold and for several weeks he has been trying to gain possession of his own house. He said he served the regular 60-day notice on the tenant which was followed up with a 3-days' notice, but the tenant is still in possession. A few days ago he took the law into his own hands and attempted to gain possession, whereupon the tenant had him arraigned in municipal court Friday on charge of trespassing. The case was postponed until Monday, the defendant being permitted to go his way on his own recognizance.

Mrs. J. Taughn of Kaukauna, called on friends in Appleton Friday.

Mrs. Fred Gerrits of Little Chute, was a caller on friends Friday.

CLOTHING PRICES ARE GOING UP NOW

Wholesale Dealers Believe
Prices Have Fallen to Lowest Levels.

Clothing manufacturers of Chicago and New York believe prices for wearing apparel have reached the lowest point and that there will be a slight upward tendency on new spring shipments.

This view of the situation was obtained by Hugh G. Corbett, managing secretary of the chamber of commerce, who returned Saturday from a business trip to Chicago. Mr. Corbett had opportunity to discuss the situation with several men who are authorities on the marketing situation.

"There has been a wholesale slashing of prices all over Chicago," said Mr. Corbett. "The recognized retail stores are making substantial reductions, but the city is besieged with men who have opened up temporary

GERMAN REPARATION

When it came to settling up the war, French and British extremists wanted to make Germany pay $40,000,000,000 to $50,000,000,000. Level-headed economists explained that, although Germany was morally responsible for greater damages than that, it was impossible to impose any such obligation on her with reasonable hope of seeing it fulfilled.

The total wealth of the German empire, less state and national debts, before the war was only $75,000,000,000. That wealth was considerably shrunk by the war. If the nations own domestic war debt were considered, it was doubtful whether the net wealth of the country at the time of the armistice amounted to $40,000,000,000. The economists pointed out that you cannot take from a debtor any more than that debtor has, and in the case of a country you cannot take as much, because so large a part of a nation's wealth is immovable real estate.

The only possibility of getting any large sum from Germany was by leaving the nation its "plant" to work with, and merely levying on the profit from year to year until the reckoning was paid. And it was recognized that even then there were limits beyond which the allies could not safely go, because if the obligations were so large as to bankrupt German industry and finance or utterly discourage the spirit of the German people, they would not produce anything beyond a bare living for themselves and there would be nothing to make reparation with.

It was generally felt a year ago that Germany might be able to pay as much as 400,000,000,000 marks, or about $24,000,000,000 in gold, under favorable conditions. The second financial conference, which is to resume its sessions in Brussels on Jan. 10, is said to be doubtful about that figure. There is a general impression that the sum will ultimately be fixed at something like $15,000,000,000, and it is believed that if it were made as low as that Germany would make a sincere effort to pay it.

The situation is disappointing to the allied nations that suffered so severely at Germany's hands, particularly France and Belgium; but they may reconcile themselves on the ground that a quarter of a loaf is better than nothing, and that they dare not drive Germany into complete bankruptcy and despair lest their own finance and industry collapse along with hers.

ALASKA'S DOOR UNBARRED

In 1867 when Seward concluded the purchase of Alaska from Russia for the United States, the public refused to regard it as anything but a bad bargain. He paid $7,200,000 for it, after which it was popularly referred to as "Seward's Ice Box." Not many ice boxes, when delivered to purchasers, are so filled with good things as was Alaska. To date a billion dollars' worth of products have come out of America's vast treasure chest to the north, and yet the resources of the territory have barely been touched.

Not only is it rich in coal and mineral deposits, but it has proved to be a good agricultural land, producing excellent wheat and other grains. Its timber resources are looked to now to save this country from a wood shortage and the suspension of many industries dependent upon wood.

Recently the government has begun to take a more active interest in Alaska. A railroad authorized by act of congress in 1915 has been completed in all but 96 miles of its full extent. Investigations have been started to estimate available water power and other resources. Agricultural stations have been established and homestead laws revised. Other necessary restrictions are in a fair way to be removed, so that the way will be open for the speedy utilization of many of Alaska's assets.

The government has been slow in recognizing the full value of Alaska because the public has been largely indifferent to it. Both are waking now to the opportunities that exist there. The ambitious youth who imagines that pioneering opportunity is a thing of the past has there a field to test his courage and determination. Yet it will be modern pioneering with all the help in modern equipment which a rich and progressive government can offer.

AMERICA'S RESPONSIBILITY

The way to disarm, as a practical New York paper remarks, is to disarm. The way to cut down the cost of armament is to cut down the cost of armament not in the indefinite future, but in the living present. Great Britain has adopted this simple, practical policy, making an immediate cut of 50 per cent in its army and navy budgets for next year. This move is precisely in line with Senator Borah's plan for a 50 per cent reduction in new naval construction for the next five years by a triple agreement on the part of America, Great Britain and Japan.

There is every indication that Britain would gladly extend this economical policy to cover the proposed five-year period. Utterances in Japan suggest that country would welcome a similar move, if Japanese statesmen were persuaded that they could take it safely. They are afraid of American armament. Everything hinges on the United States. Our government can determine the armament policy of these three powers, and by inevitable consequence the policy of the other powers, big and little.

Such work as this was expected of the League of Nations. The League has felt it useless to take up the disarmament question without the cooperation of the United States. Whether or not this country is to join the League, there is no need to wait for disarmament. It would be little short of a crime against civilization if the United States, possessing the prestige which can instantly bring about a real start toward disarmament, did not avail itself of the opportunity and set in motion this great burden-lifting reform. Not to do so would belie all its high pretensions to peace and international goodwill.

MEDICAL INTERNATIONALISM

A representative of the American college of Surgeons sailed recently from New York for Ecuador, where he will present the aims of the college and strive to interest Ecuadorian medical men in becoming fellows of the American institution. Argentina, Peru, Chile and Uruguay already enjoy such affiliation.

The preservation of health and the advancement of medicine and surgery are recognized better than they used to be as great national and international duties. The fashion of interchanging visits between recognized members of the professions in the various countries is one of the most potent factors in such advancement. It means that doctors the world around labor shoulder to shoulder, that knowledge gained in one country becomes the possession of the others, that the danger from obscure epidemics grows less year by year, and that what is accomplished in one country will not be undone by ignorance or lack of interest in another.

The statesmen, the businessmen, the armies and the navies receive endless praise for their labors among the nations. Too little is said of the doctors who selfless, highly intelligent, well organized and following an ideal perhaps higher than any of the others, labor ceaselessly for the benefit of all mankind.

PRETTIEST WOMAN IN WHITE HOUSE

Historians are inclined to give to Miss Harriet Lane, niece of President Buchanan, the palm for being the prettiest woman that ever ruled the White House.

She was a blonde with hair of a rare gold, deep blue eyes, and her mouth was said to be one of the most beautiful ever owned by a Washington belle. Her beauty was so remarkable that at the dawn of womanhood, when she was fifteen, she was called "the prettiest girl in the world."

Not only was she beautiful in line and curve, but in addition she was a picture of perfect health, an athlete of no mean order. In many a young girl discovered after she had challenged him to a race and beaten him so badly that operators of the race unmercifully chafed him. She played many games with skill and vigor, and there was not a woman in Washington that could compete with her in any game calling for strength and great activity.

In spite of this she was not unkindly and indulgent. In a happy, well-kept and a good people of the world, she was a great asset.

BEWARE THE DEADLY SPRAY

Am I exaggerating when I intimate that intelligent individuals today ascribe such diseases as typhoid, whooping-cough, measles, scarlet fever, chicken pox, pneumonia, epidemic meningitis and mumps to exposure to cold, dampness or drafts or to change of weather? No, indeed. Many a fine doctor at least acquiesces in the parent's belief that such an illness is "just a cold"—until events show the error of such a view. It is useful of the doctor who so makes us of the catching cold bog to help him over a diagnostic problem; but if the illness turns out to be quinsy, bronchitis, coryza, or adenoiditis, then the original name is likely to stand—"the patient contracted a severe cold"—and that, I say, is just plain ignorance.

Bear in mind that no one has succeeded in proving that exposure to cold or drafts or sudden changes of temperature causes any of the numerous diseases frequently attributed to exposure. In fact, every experiment undertaken with the purpose of adding such proof has turned out a dismal failure for the researcher, or, as has repeatedly happened, the result of the experiment has rather tended to show that exposure, though ever so uncomfortable, is capable of causing refrigeration (chapping, chilblain, frostbite, gangrene or death of the frozen part, or death by freezing) but not disease.

Public health authorities who know how the long list of costly respiratory infections are spread can scarcely hope to make headway in the prevention or "control" of such diseases so long as they will fully lend even a passive support to the popular belief in "exposure" as a "predisposing factor." It is curious how our public health guardians persist in ascribing a predisposing influence to cold without standing the utter lack of any actual evidence.

In conversation we constantly discharge from the mouth an invisible spray of moisture which carries about for feet. In the droplets of this spray, as has been repeatedly demonstrated, any germs present in the mouth may be carried. Therefore you are exposed to infection if you venture unmasked with the five-foot barrage of any individual who has a respiratory infection or who is developing such an illness or indisposition or who has recently had such an illness and still, perhaps, harbors the germs thereof. That is the common everyday way in which we spread our common everyday illnesses, and especially so-called "colds."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

The Epsom Salts Delusion.
Do epsom salts help one to reduce? How much should be taken in order to lose ten pounds? If it is not good, please recommend some other medicine that will reduce, as I cannot diet. (Mrs. C. M. L.)
ANSWER—Epsom salts will not reduce, unless by ruining health. If you really cannot diet, then you certainly would not dare take any medicine alleged to reduce, unless under the personal direction of your physician.

Children's Teeth.
Is it advisable to give the teeth of a two-year-old child a daily brushing? What should be used? (C. H.)
ANSWER—Yes. Use a very soft brush, and a little plain soap (without scent or flavor or medication) on the moist brush.

It Does Seem Wasteful.
I am attending college this year, and after swimming an hour a day and taking other regular exercise I find I require ten hours sleep in order to feel in right condition for any studying. Although I've had perfect health all my life, I am told this is a sign of bad health. What do you think about it? (M. W.)

ANSWER—No, it is a sign and a factor of good health. Young people seldom sleep more than that. If they knew how much sleep helps the complexion, they stick to their ten hour schedule another ten years and let the gossip who think it's a bad sign do all the worrying.

Twenty-Five Years Ago

Saturday, Jan. 11, 1896

Eleven tramps were sent to the county jail and two were sent out of town.

Miss Daisy Buckstaff of Oshkosh was a guest in the family of A. G. Hatch.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Ritchie. Mrs. George North gave a musicale at her home at Green Bay in honor of Miss Alice Williams of Appleton.

Henry Ming of Atchison, Kansas, was in Appleton called here by the death of his father, S. P. Ming. Mr. Ming was a passenger conductor on the Missouri Pacific Railway and had been absent from Appleton fourteen years.

Morning glories in blossom at the home of Alex. Davis were attracting a great deal of attention. The seed was planted by Mr. Dallas' little daughter.

A card party at Columbia hall the evening previous was attended by over 100 players. The prizes were won by Miss Marie Morrow, Miss Frankie Burhans, Ernest Otto and John O'Keefe.

Mrs. S. R. Nash, who had been a resident of Hortonville since 1849, died at the age of 77 years.

A farmers' institute was to be held in Appleton on Feb. 21 and 22.

James Morrow & Co. was selling Minnesota flour at $3.50 per barrel and dairy butter at 16 cents per pound.

A dispatch from Johannesburg, Africa, stated that the idea of eating goldfish seemed a joke. But tons of real goldfish now are being eaten quite seriously in some larger cities of the United States.

"Sordidly" is the correct word. For goldfish are said to contain bones so fine to permit the eating to be undertaken lightly. However, business is a quality not unknown in fish more commonly served as food. And the flavor of the goldfish is said to be good.

The goldfish now sold in markets are netted in certain marshes along Lake Erie.

They were unknown in 1912.

U. S. hatchery officials think these now being caught are the increase of goldfish which escaped from the aquariums of Bois Isle at Detroit in 1913.

These are not the fancy little goldfish of the glass bowl. They are the heavier fellows which grow to half a pound. The fishermen call them wild goldfish.

Not to suggest that they are dangerous, or even particularly shy, but to distinguish them from the smaller varieties sold as pets.

The goldfish have become most numerous where carp are fed for the city markets. The goldfish and the carp are cousins, and thrive under similar conditions. Tons were caught this fall and shipped to markets, particularly in New York.

Washington, D. C.—A man and his wife recently crossed the continent on foot, thus adding their names to the long list of those who have done the feat, and showing that the healthy art of traveling under your own power is still alive, despite the jitneys and street cars and all the other things that carry us.

Long distance walking really constitutes man's chief claim to physical eminence in the world. Altho the 'act is not generally known and very seldom demonstrated, a man can out-travel on his own feet almost any other mammal.

George Wilson, an English professional walker, did 750 miles in 15 days and Weston, the famous American pedestrian, in his last trip across the continent when he was 72 years old, averaged about 46 miles a day and did 72 miles on one day toward the end, just to show, as he said, that there was no ill-feeling.

Now there are few horses that can carry you 40 miles a day and keep it up for many days, and a loose horse living on grass as he goes along cannot do as much as a grained horse under a saddle. Indeed, the ability of a good man to out-travel a good horse was often demonstrated in the West a quarter of a century ago, when men used to catch mustangs by walking them down. They simply kept the horses moving, day after day, not allowing them enough time to eat or sleep, and finally were able to walk up and rope the horses without difficulty.

Man is by nature a roving animal, and it is by a long slow process of change that he has become a creature who lives in one spot most of the time, and is hauled from place to place in vehicles. He was designed for long and continuous roaming on his own feet, and no doubt the disease of this function is the source of many of his ills. At least, the hikers claim that walking is the cure for most ailments. Weston claims that it is a sure cure for rheumatism. He was badly crippled by rheumatism at one time and unable to walk more than a block. Then he went into training for his transcontinental hike, and left his rheumatism somewhere in the road.

Walking an Aid to Health.

No doubt if we were not too lazy to walk, all of us who are still fairly sound organically and have the use of both legs could walk ourselves into health and keep ourselves there. It is a prime cure for constipation, which is the source of about half the troubles of civilized man, and it insures large doses of fresh air, the lack of which is the source of most of his other ills.

But walking is a habit. If you have it, you will walk in spite of everything, and if you haven't it, it takes a good deal of effort to get started.

Most of us, too, think that if we walk a mile or two a day we are doing ing well; but as a matter of fact that is not enough to do any good. Ten miles is only a fair start, and five is the least that will do much for your health. And if you aspire to be considered a walker you should step off your five miles in an hour and a half at the most. A five mile walk two or three times a week to keep in form, and a 20 or 25 mile walk on the week-end is about right for a modest beginning, according to the best authorities.

Tips for Hikers

Should you be inspired by this homily to hike, either for your health or your pleasure, some tips from the experts will not be amiss. In the first place, wear light woolen socks and light comfortable shoes, and a sweater is better than a coat. In the second place, walk on country roads, paths and cross country, not on pavements. In the third place, let your walk end at home where you can get a bath and a rest at once. The best plan is to take a trolley into the country and walk back to the city limits or across to another trolley line. For your week-end trip pick out some section of the country that is interesting, and that you have never seen. Locate two railroad or trolley lines about the distance apart that you think you are equal to, and then walk from the one to the other. You will be surprised how much there is of interest in your own neighborhood that you had never noticed. Get maps of the country you are going to explore. The best ones are the topographical sheets published by the Geological Survey. They show every road, by-path and farm house and they cost but 10 cents apiece.

Hiking as a Sport

If you are tired of being told that you ought to take more exercise, and are resolved to devote your life to movement, even though you die of it, you might still consider hiking as a sport. It really is a sport if you once get into it. The rhythm of it when you are going good over a good country road or turf is as exhilarating as any game. It is highly provocative of thought, and of lively aggressive thought at that. When walking is the very time to think. Sitting in a stuffy room with a pipe in your face, you think is very apt to degenerate into either aimless rumination or pessimistic worry, but the thinking that you do to the tune of a four-mile-an-hour gait with a breeze in your face is almost bound to be the best thinking your head is capable of.

You should not, however, think all of the time. There should be surprise and diversion, and there will be if you only keep your eyes peeled for it. Whatever you are interested in, you will be sure to encounter it in your travels if you just keep traveling. Perhaps you don't care for birds or flowers, such as are found along country roads. But other things are found along country roads, such as pretty girls, real estate, farm houses where you can buy butter, milk, cereals where you can go swimming—all sorts of things. It is almost impossible to walk a hundred miles without encountering a few adventures, although you can easily miss a thousand without striking anything more interesting than a nail in the road.

Professor of Economics, Lawrence College, and Educational Director of the Wisconsin Society for Civic and Economic Education.

The Work of the Legislature

Our State Legislature holds a unique position. No other legislative body from the annual school meeting to the Congress of the United States enjoys the same distinction. The other law making bodies, whether city council, county board or Congress exercise only delegated powers. That is, Congress finds its powers either expressed or clearly implied in the Constitution of the United States, while all the other bodies are granted their authority by either the Constitution of Wisconsin or the laws of the state. Any of these bodies before exercising a power must determine first whether it is authorized by the Constitution or the laws. If it is, then it may exercise the power. If not then it must refrain from doing so.

Quite the contrary with the state legislature. If it desires to exercise a certain power, it first determines whether it is specifically denied the right to do so by constitution, state or national, and if not it proceeds to act as planned. This is what may be called residual power. The legislature may do anything not denied it, while the other legislative bodies local and national may perform only those acts which are delegated to them.

While the state legislature enjoys extensive powers, nevertheless limitations have been placed upon the body. These limitations have been set by the constitution and the legislature. With these wide limits the legislature acts with the greatest freedom for the weal or the woe of the commonwealth. The consequences are almost unlimited. It is a serious question whether the legislators are doing all that is possible to promote the common good. Few parts of our democratic government demand more serious consideration by our citizens than our state legislature.

(One week from today Professor Kinsman will discuss "Legislative Dangers of Our Democracy.")

Governor's Message.
How can the Governor present an intelligent message to the Legislature in such a short time? B. E. S.

ANSWER—The message is written largely before the Governor takes office. The first Monday in January, through the courtesy of the officers of the previous administration he is able to give information relative to existing governmental conditions in the state. And it is upon this information largely that he must base his recommendations to the Legislature.

The Mayor.
Who is responsible for the enforcement of city ordinances?

ANSWER—The mayor is held responsible for the enforcement of city ordinances. The police are simply his aids.

In the third place the constitution

MADISON CITY ATTORNEY IS NOMINATED FOR JUDGE

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Madison—William Ryan, for nine years city attorney of Madison, was nominated by President Wilson to be judge of the federal court for the western district of Wisconsin. The nomination has been sent to the senate for confirmation. Information has come from Washington to the effect that no important appointments by President Wilson will be allowed confirmation by the republican majority in the senate.

Mr. Ryan was one of three suggested to the department of justice by Joseph Martin of Green Bay, Wisconsin member of the democratic national committee. The others were Albert C. Wolfe of La Crosse, who is United States district attorney, and D. C. Conway of Wisconsin Rapids. The Wolfe petition was supported by the federal grand jury which recently investigated violations of the liquor law in the western district. Mr. Ryan will not take the office until confirmed by the senate. He graduated from the state university law school in 1904 and has since practiced in Madison.

WILL RUSH NEW TARIFF BILL THROUGH SENATE

Washington—Intention of rushing the Fordney emergency tariff bill through the senate was again expressed by republican leaders today.

When the senate finance committee resumed hearings on the bill, Senator Smoot of Utah, one of the supporters of the measure, urged, witnesses to be brief saying "we do not want to continue these hearings after Tuesday." Mr. Smoot, chairman of the committee, who yesterday switched from a foe to a friend of the emergency measure, did not preside today. It was said he had other important engagements.

Sister Mary's Kitchen

Most American cooks shudder at the idea of garlic in foods. If the truth were known a tiny bit of garlic imparts a flavor to a vegetable salad and some meats not to be attained by any other means.

A clove of garlic rubbed on the surface of the salad bowl gives that taste to the salad which every cook strives for, the indelible something that puts pep in food.

A roast of mutton is greatly improved if a little piece of garlic is put in the top of the meat while roasting. Remove the garlic before the roast is thoroughly cooked.

Menu for Tomorrow
BREAKFAST—Canned sliced pineapple, fried corn-meal mush, sirup, soft boiled eggs, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Sardine toast, "brownies" tea.
DINNER—Roast beef, potatoes, sprouts, apple-celery-nut salad, chocolate bread pudding, coffee.

My Own Recipes
In choosing a roast of beef look at the texture of the meat. The finest cuts come from that part of the creature where the muscles are but little used. This makes the meat finely grained and more tender, requiring less cooking. The meat should be bright red in color.

THE BOOK OF DEBORAH

Deb Can't Help But Brood Over Her Relations With Jim.

Deborah Burns came every day to ask for the news from Jim's sick room. Fortunately, I could always report that Jim's improvement was steady, if slow. Jim would be home soon with his nurses. His convalescence probably would be long. I liked the idea that Jim would be an invalid for a month or more was very hard on me.

The love for a man of a grand girl like Deb is decidedly maternal. I could see that she was simply wild to take care of Jim herself. I suppose her war work had made her critical of nursing as well as very competent in it.

Half jokingly, one day, I accused her of wanting to disguise herself as a trained nurse. I assured her that I would gladly recommend her to Ann if she applied for a place. Deb blushed violently and because self-consciousness is so rare with her, I felt that she would have undertaken the romantic role had it been feasible. Certainly she had considered it, not for love's sake, not to be near Jim, but to be assured that every detail of his care was quite perfect.

Little good was Mistress Ann in over-seeing anything. Deb knew that as well as I, although we never discussed the point.

Deb's daily call brought us to the stage of friendship which sentimental school girls describe as intimate. Neither of us any longer tried to conceal our emotional distresses from the other. Deb excused her own frankness about her feelings in this way:

"You're so understanding, Jane. When I'm alone, my thoughts center on the time I spent with Jim in the hospital. You will not be shocked when I tell you. Anybody else would. I'm simply distracted. When I remember that he called for me, that when he was delicious he wanted me—of all the women he might have called—Ann—Chrys—his mother—you—my heart almost breaks."

"I thought you were going to be so brave, dear."

"So did I. But how could I know I would miss him so? That it would hurt so?"

"Don't brood about it, Deb," I said, hating myself as a false comforter.

"Brooding is absurd, I know. It's selfish—wasteful—I agree to all that, Jane. I pose, I admit, when I try to overcome my emotions. Pose in love always fails, I guess."

"One loves—or one does not love. And if you pretend what you do not feel, either way, you have to pay. I ought to know," I said bitterly. "I've been pretending—for days I've tried to fool myself into believing that I don't care about my quarrel—with Bob—that I desire his happiness more than my own. Deb dear, I've pretended to be awfully superior to the common experience of woman and I've discovered, as you have, that in love one cannot feel oneself to be pretending. I've looked at me thoughtfully, but I could see that she wasn't considering my problem at all. Finally she spoke.

"You were awfully good to go dear, considering what the gossips might have said."

"Now he is recovering. He will never be disloyal to his wife, even by the meaning of a sly smile."

"Not if I know Jimmy-boy," I said. "If I wanted to take him away from her, I could do it."

I looked at Deb in vast astonishment.

ABLE TO DO HER WORK

After Long Suffering Mrs. Siefert Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Pottsville, Pa.—"I suffered with female trouble for four or five years and was very irregular. I was not fit to do my work at times and took medicine from a doctor and got no benefit. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the newspapers and took it and got all right. I gained twenty pounds or more and am now able to do my work. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends and you may use these facts as a testimonial."

—Mrs. SALLIE SIEFERT, 313 W. Fourth Street, Pottsville, Pa.

The everyday life of many housewives is a continual struggle with weakness and pain. There is nothing more wearing than the ceaseless round of household duties and they become doubly hard when some female trouble makes every bone and muscle ache, and nerves all on edge. If you are one of these women do not suffer for four or five years as Mrs. Siefert did, but profit by her experience and be restored to health.

We shall not try to tell you how much of a loss this will be to us but we honestly believe that this winter will see the lowest prices on goods for some time to come. Prices are cut on practically every article in the store. No attention has been paid to what the goods cost or to our profits on them. INHERITANCE TAX IS OVER MILLION

Tax Commission Reveals Over Million Additional Taxes in Checkup.

Madison—One accountancy working in the tax commission added $1,131,404 to the revenue of the state, Nils P. Haugen, chairman of the commission, said today in commenting on the work of his department during the past year.

In checking over the reported earnings of corporations he located additional income of $10,122,759 which 765 companies had failed to reveal to the commission, resulting in a normal tax of $255,546, soldiers' bonus surtax of $448,754 and soldiers' educational surtax of $89,274.

This case was pointed to by Mr. Haugen as an indication of the broadening work of the commission. He says that it is also indicative of the attitude of the taxpayers who did not

INSURANCE MAN IS MYSTERY VICTIM

George L. Jacques, Neillsville, Quietly Leaves Home and Business.

Neillsville—Neillsville is deeply concerned over the mysterious disappearance of George L. Jacques, head of one of the city's leading families. Mr. Jacques also was loan agent in this district for the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co., of Milwaukee.

The latest feature of his continued absence was the taking over of his office last week by Frank C. Lewis, general superintendent of loans of the insurance company. Mr. Lewis' office is in the company's main office in Milwaukee. He has supervision over hundreds of the company's loan agents throughout the United States.

Wife Can't Explain—Although his wife has no explanation to offer for the disappearance, she declares that Mr. Jacques' leaving Neillsville was an entirely voluntary and sane act. According to Mrs. Jacques and her two sons, William and Fred, Mr. Jacques wrote home a few days after his disappearance. They say that the letter was their first indication that he was alive and well. He said he was "broke" and would not be back.

Turned Over Property, Report—Shortly before his disappearance Mr. Jacques is said to have turned over all of his possessions to his family. Two farms were devoted to his sons, while the homestead, said to be a costly estate, was given to Mrs. Jacques.

In addition Mr. Jacques gave his son William power of attorney to transact all of his affairs. The day following receipt of the letter, the family is said to have received a parcel post package containing Mr. Jacques' overcoat. No explanation of this act has been offered.

FUR COAT FAD IS RAPIDLY PASSING

Fewer Animals Are Trapped But Market Slumps in Spite of This Fact.

Madison—Fur coats are passing! So the statement of W. E. Barber of the state conservation commission would show. Last year almost $1,000,000 worth of fur was trapped in Wisconsin while the 1920 season, it is estimated, will net the trappers only $500,000.

"Of course," said Mr. Barber, "this small season may not be entirely due to the market. There was a closed season for muskrats, except in Winnebago and Waupaca counties and townships of Waushara county. There was also a formerly permitted in those counties owing to the extensive muskrat marshes of Lake Winnebago. "Nevertheless," he said, "the fur market has taken a great slump. Mink skins that brought $125 in 1919 are selling at $10 and $12 this year. Muskrat skins have come down from $6 to an average of 60 cents apiece; deer skins have dropped to $10 from last year's $40 average."

Mr. Barber, in speaking of the same situation in the state, expressed a gratification at the way the buck law has been received.

Protective laws have saved game birds and animals in the state, Mr. Barber claims. Instead of approaching extinction there has been a great increase in the number of every species except quail. Quail are the only birds which are not multiplying. The heavy winters have killed them off in large numbers.

The quantity of Wisconsin game is proved by the fact that 158,000 licensed hunters in 1919 did not in any way deplete the supply. Neither did the 155,807 hunters of 1920.

In order to obtain more accurate statistics upon game, the conservation commission has suggested a law providing that every purchaser of a hunting license report the kill of game under his license. Further amendments and additions to the game laws have been suggested by the commission as follows:

Changing the open season for all varieties of game fish, except trout and bass, to May 29 to 25 bag limit for trout and a minimum size of 9 inches; prohibit the shipment of game fish outside the state; prohibit carrying of gun in counties where there is an open season for deer ten days prior to the opening date; change the open season for deer to Nov. 10 to open 13 counties to the trapping of beaver, viz: Ashland, Bayfield, Douglas, Vilas, Oneida, Price, Rusk, Sawyer, Iron, Langlade, Washburn, Chippewa and Taylor change open season for fur-bearing animals, mink, muskrat, marten, skunk, fisher and raccoon, to Nov. 1, closing Feb. 1; prohibit trolling from any boat propelled by other than paddle, oars or pole; provide that blinds may be constructed not to exceed 10 feet from any growth that will wholly or partially conceal hunter; provide jail sentence for violation of the law relating to partridge, prairie chicken and deer.

STOP CHURCH WAR, PRELATE ORDERS

Archbishop Messmer Issues Sharp Defense of Church Management.

Kenosha—A formal order from Archbishop Sebastian G. Messmer of the Milwaukee diocese was received on Friday by protesting members of the Church of the Holy Rosary here, directing them to discontinue agitation for the removal of the Rev. Peter Harardus, pastor of that Catholic congregation in Kenosha.

The archbishop threatened the Rev. Harardus with excommunication from the Catholic church.

The order of the archbishop holds that the rights of the church to determine its own government has been attacked by a self-appointed committee, acting without any authority from the congregation.

The order prohibits members of the congregation who desire to be considered as Catholics from having any part in the public meetings which may have for their end the breaking down of the parish or the removal of the priest.

The letter is declared to be one of the strongest ecclesiastical defenses of church management ever sent out by any Roman Catholic prelate.

Zoll Has Made Splendid Record On Wrestling Mat

Green Bay Heavyweight Will Not Be Easiest Kind of Meat for Hill.

Carl Zoll, who is to pit his strength and skill against George Hill on the mat at armory G next Thursday night, has a fine record. He has met many of the best wrestlers in the country and has won a majority of his matches. In Green Bay, his home town, the fans think he is a world beater and are backing him up with real coin of the realm to defeat Hill here.

Zoll claims the championship of the state by virtue of his victories over a majority of Wisconsin grapplers. He has never met Hill, however, in fact has persistently refused to have anything to do with the local man. It was said he was not in condition for wrestling when the challenges were issued but he has been working hard in Chicago for several weeks and says he is now in shape to meet the best in the country.

Green Bay money is coming in rapidly and it is probable the bets will be even. Zoll will outweigh Hill by at least 20 pounds but that will make little difference to the local man.

Hill is to wrestle Gustafson at Ashland Friday night. He wants to catch a train leaving Neenah at 11:30 o'clock Thursday night and expects to have Zoll out of the way by that time. The main bout will probably start between Zoll and Hill at 9:30 and 10 o'clock, after the preliminaries, indicating that George will have to hurry if he wants to throw the big Bayman in the little time that will be left.

Interest in the battle indicates one of the largest crowds that has ever seen a wrestling match here. Green Bay will come here several hundred strong. Neenah will send a delegation and a number of fans are coming from Oshkosh.

KIMBERLY READY FOR MAT BATTLES

Coach Wundrow Has Fine Aggregation of Stars to Meet Collegians.

Coach Wundrow of the Kimberly-Clark wrestling team which meets the Lawrence college team next Wednesday night says his men are in fine shape and expects to spring the big surprise of the season on the collegians. The final try-outs for the team will be held tomorrow noon at Kimberly.

The probable personnel of the mill team includes Sam Manita in the heavyweight class. This man has never met with defeat on the wrestling mat and is training hard in order to uphold this record. Joe Laarschot is perhaps the class of the middleweights and light heavies but Art Hartzes and Howard Japana are both good men. Frye and J. Boyce will uphold the honors for the mill team in the 145 pound class.

Mike Merkle looks to be the best bet in the 125 pound class. The other position in this class is between Arnold Pocan and Joe Verhagen. B. Boyce, Crowe and others are three men in the 135 pound class which forms one of the strongest classes on the mill team. Coach Wundrow has worked the men hard for the last two months with the result he now has a well rounded team which expects to make a strong bid for the championship of the Fox river valley.

HIGH BASKETEERS PLAY HERE TONIGHT

Sheboygan Will Furnish Opposition in Alexander Gymnasium.

Appleton high school basketball players get their first taste of real battle Saturday night when they take the floor against the Sheboygan high school quintet in Alexander gymnasium.

Coach Vincent has quite a squad to pick from and will probably give most of his men a chance to show what they can do if the locals can pile up a commanding lead over the visitors.

Briese and Dunn will probably be given the choice at center. Both men are good jumpers, fair shots and good defensive players.

Briese, Jacobson, Courtney, Johnson and Zussman are seeking forward positions. Jacobson is practically sure of a place. He is one of the best cagemen in the local school in some years. Courtney plays a good game and probably will be Jacobson's running mate.

Roach, Hagen and Bloomer are the guard aspirants, with Roach getting the call. The other two men will probably alternate.

There are several other good men in the squad who may be given chances to play Saturday night. The team has excellent prospects for annexing the state title if it can keep the jinx away.

There are nearly 100 ways of saying "my dear" in the Manx language. The wool industry ranks as the fifth principal occupation of Rumania. A new French invention is said to photograph accurately by telephone.

ANOTHER BASEBALL ROW SMOLDERING

Minor Leaguers Want New Draft Agreement With Big League Brethren.

By Don E. Chamberlain
Chicago—Preliminaries to a "show-down" in organized baseball when minor and major league magnates meet here next week with Federal Judge K. M. Landis, high commissioner of baseball, to draw up a peace agreement, were said to be held here today with a conference between heads of both the major leagues.

President Ban Johnson of the American league, and President John Heydler of the National league, were scheduled to meet here today to draw up a draft of next season's playing schedule.

Quick work is expected to be made of the drafting of the baseball schedule so that the boards may be cleared for action Monday when the minor league magnates arrive.

That there may be difficulties among the minors over the proposed form of agreement between themselves and major leagues was indicated today when it was learned that a row had broken out over the proposed peace settlement.

Want New Draft Rules
Class AA organizations are in revolt against agreeing to a plan which would allow the majors to draft from their leagues on the same basis that they would draft from the class A, B, and C leagues.

They are expected to seek a separate agreement which would allow the majors to draft from class AA leagues at increased prices and which in turn would allow them to draft from class A, B and C leagues. The latter oppose this on the ground that the American Association and the Pacific Coast and International leagues are in minor league towns and therefore should come under the same jurisdiction as they do.

Regulations under which the office created for Judge Landis will operate will probably be made here tomorrow.

LAWRENCE WHIPS STEVENS POINT IN FIRST GAME

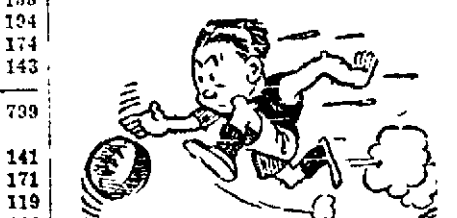

Collegians Are Behind at End of First Period, But Stage Comeback.

About 200 fans witnessed the first college basketball game of this season Friday evening at Alexander gymnasium in which the Lawrence quintet trounced Stevens Point normal by a score of 26 to 17. Practically all of the Normal school markers were made on long shots. The game was fast and close. Lawrence men had to fight hard every minute to keep their opponents from running away with them. It looked like a victory for the visitors until the last half of the game the college team having the short end of the score almost continually. However, a big spurt of fast playing and a few long basket shots turned the tide and put the game on ice for the Lawrence men.

Wheeler started the scoring for the locals early in the game by accepting a free throw. The first field goal came shortly after on a series of short passes. Monson fouled, and Stevens Point gained a marker on the free throw. Another series of short passes carried the ball close under the basket and Basing tossed the ball thru the mesh.

A long throw from near the center of the floor raised the normal men's score to 2. MacBride failed to make a point on a foul which followed, but came back immediately with a field basket. A long shot by Brown, Stevens Point forward, netted two more scores. Wheeler accepted another free throw, and MacBride retaliated when Wheeler fouled soon after.

Lawrence got the ball on the next jump off, and worked it down the hall until it was dropped thru the ring by Wheeler. A sensational throw by Andrews added two more points to Stevens Point's tally. Each side added two more baskets to the score before the half ended. Shortly before the whistle blew Elliott went into the game for Sorenson. The score at the end of the first half was 15 to 12 with Lawrence on the short end.

Puchner started the second half in Monson's position. Smith started scoring by dropping the ball thru on a long shot. Wheeler tied the score on a foul. Sorenson returned to the game and took Elliott's place. Wheeler added to the tally and McCarr again tied the score when he tossed the ball thru on an over head throw. Four more tallies made by Smith and Puchner put a kink in the visiting team and the game was won. However, the visitors fought hard and were rewarded by another tally. Smith was injured but was able to resume play again after a few moments. Collins took Puchner's position and rang up two counters soon after on a series of passes. He was taken out of the game again and Puchner replaced him. A long try for a basket by Puchner was successful and the scoring was ended.

K. C. QUINTET WHIPS ST. NORBERTS, 28-9

The Kimberly-Clark quintet defeated St. Norbert college 28 to 9 in a clean, fast game at DePere Friday evening. Carl Falstrom was the local star, making six field goals out of the 25 points, while Fountain, a local young man who is attending St. Norbert college, made two out of the four field goals for the collegiator.

The lineup: Kimberly-Clark—Falstrom and Smith, forwards; Helm, center; Clark and Bishop, guards; Lillroot and Dohr, substitutes. St. Norbert—Fountain and Bath, forwards; Mett, center; Kilsdonk and Lonier, guards; Schumacker and Stulp, substitutes.

The game was singularly clean and free from fouls. The local men said they received excellent treatment at DePere and they are looking forward to a return game to be played here soon.

BIG SCRAP MAY BE STAGED IN LONDON

Dempsey and Carpentier Likely to Swap Blows in a Foreign Ring.

By United Press Leased Wire
London—Opinion is divided in England over the prospects of the Dempsey-Carpentier heavyweight championship bout being fought in this country.

With the price limitation on seats in New York and the heavy tax placed upon fight tickets above the value of twenty francs in France, many ring followers here believe that England is the only place left.

Charles B. Cochrane, partner of Tex Rickard and William K. Brady, New York, in the promotion of the fight, would not make any definite announcement today.

"Paris is eliminated as the scene," he said.

"New York and London remain. I prefer London."

Inquiry among sportsmen revealed strong sentiment against the selection of London as the site.

In a statement to the United Press, the editor of "Sporting Life," said that Londoners were not taking it seriously yet, but in the event that efforts were made to bring the big battle here, that opposition would be sure to spring up from the press and the pulpit directed largely against foreigners taking such large sums out of England. It was pointed out that there are no laws in England to prevent the fight, but on several occasions, notably the Wells-Johnson affair, public sentiment has caused big engagements to be called off.

London has the facilities to stage the fight. The Olympia has a seating capacity of 13,000 and Albert Hall holds 12,000, and the sky is the limit on prices.

Promoters are asking twelve pounds for the coming Wilder-Herman bout and the top prices for the Beckett-Carpentier fight were twenty five pounds. The total receipts of the latter were twenty four thousand pounds. The Dempsey-Carpentier fight could command fifty thousand pounds it is thought.

The Rummage Sale of Domestic China

Not in these years have we been able to show such a complete assortment of patterns as now. While the China market does not warrant any lower prices at this time, yet for Rummage Sale we have placed a ten per cent discount on all domestic China ware. Buy as little or as much as you wish. Be sure to see the China Displays during Rummage Sale.

You may say good-bye to the old slavery of high prices. Let us hope that they are gone forever. Of course, this first deep cut into old prices may be more favorable to you than any prices you may see again for many months. When the new season comes, with its larger requirements of goods, there may be a slight advance again for a time.

But NOW the price-bars are DOWN—way down to the bottom of what you dare hope until Summer at least. The manufacturers have cut prices and accepted big losses to create a Rummage Sale supreme, and we have cooperated in the fullest degree by cutting down prices on our own stock for this big WINTER RUMMAGE SALE.

The price news that we print on this page should be abundantly convincing, but we want you to COME AND SEE THE GOODS AND THEIR PRICES RIGHT HERE IN THE STORE.

No matter what you have been expecting, we think you will be as much surprised as you will be delighted to realize what we have accomplished in providing the most wanted goods of every sort at prices that nobody would have dared to have prophesied a few months ago.

The day for doing without things is past—the time to possess and enjoy wanted goods is here. For while your dollars are still plentiful, they now buy almost twice as much as they did a few months ago.

Attend the Winter Rummage Sale all next week and see how much more your dollars are worth than they were a short time ago. The following prices tell the story of wonderful savings.
